

BROOKE SHIELDS RECEIVES UNUSUAL EASTER CARD

A close friend of mine Joe Donaldson had a super-crush on Brooke Shields back when they were both in their early 20's. Joe worked for me during the time when I had sent an unusual Christmas card to Barry Manilow on behalf of my mother. Barry's press agent called my mom to personally thank her for that unusual card along with a pair of backstage passes. Joey as I affectionately called him asked me if I would do the same thing for him. I said sure; so I proceeded to create this unusual Easter card (which actually was a repetitive letter which said "Happy Easter Brooke, Love Joe". Not so unusual except that it was printed over 1000 times on wide computer paper. Well guess what? Brooke sent Joey this photo. I'll bet Joe has been carrying this ever since 1981...

"Want to know what comes between me and my Calvins? Nothing". If you had not heard of Brooke Shields before, this tagline from her Calvin Klein Jeans ad had to grab your attention, not that she hadn't had a previously noteworthy resume. She was born on May 31, 1965 in New York City and at age 12, she starred as a child prostitute in Pretty Baby (1978). Could this movie even be made today? It was considered risky and controversial in 1978. It was followed by another blockbuster, the romance adventure drama The Blue Lagoon (1980). Brooke has proven herself to be so much more than her early films. Her broad range of work as an adult would be quite an achievement for anyone, especially given how difficult transitioning from child actor to adult often is.
