I've owned my Porsche 911SC for twenty years and have used at least 5 or 6 different mechanics over those years. I've recently found Euromasters in Fountain Valley. These guys have the utmost integrity of all of the mechanics I've been through over the years. They're honest and very fair in their pricing. They never surprise you with any hidden charges and try to gouge you. They are always very congenial and ready to help you out. They are great about informing you if they find something that needs attention. Jack, the lead mechanic, knows Porsches like the back of his hand and can diagnose a problem instantly. If you own a Porsche and you're not taking it to Euromasters for service, you owe it to yourself to give them a try. You won't be disappointed!
